Inflation Trend

USD/EGP Trend

- Inflation remains the main driver of market movements, with sharp increases during the currency devaluations in 2023–2024.
- The USD exchange rate is the most influential factor affecting gold prices and the EGX30 index.
- Gold price spikes occur almost simultaneously with any increase in the USD rate.
- The EGX30 index in EGP shows strong growth, but its value in USD reveals that much of this rise comes from currency depreciation rather than real market performance.
- Gold has been the best hedging tool during the period, outperforming the stock market, especially during exchange-rate volatility.
